

The deadly weather system started moving through North Carolina Wednesday night and had already been responsible for damage and fatalities in other areas of the nation's southeast. Tornadoes were reported yesterday in Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and Florida.

###